

My love, My dear fighter! Learn to embrace the pain, learn to walk thru it, learn that it won't kill you. You need to stop getting so scared when you see the fire surrounding you, you need to look thru it and see Me standing on the other side. You need to realize that this fire will not render you useless, it won't destroy your life for Me, it won't burn you up. I know how hard it is to not fear and worry, to trust and believe My words, when all around you see flames and falling timbers, and crumbling walls, and everything you loved falling to pieces. But My love, everything that you see burning away is what you never even wanted anyway. It's all the things that were just getting between us and separating us. 'But I did want some of those things', you say. No dearest, you never did want [this], you never did desire anything but Me. Your heart was searching yes, it was searching for My love, it was searching for Me, yet you knew it not. And you never did believe that it could only be found in My words, you thought you could get this thing for yourself, and then you would be happy. But dearest, what your heart longs and dies for has been here the whole time, just waiting for you to notice it. You know that you will never be happy with anything but Me, you know I want to and will be your only satisfaction, you know that searching anywhere else for happiness is futile, you know that in accepting My will for your life will you find joy and fulfillment, you know that man will fail you no matter who they are, you know that you're never gonna be happy, fulfilled, content, at peace, satisfied or anything without Me.

I can be your excitement, I can be your fun, I can be what you look forward to each day, I can make your life worth living. If only you would accept and yield, if only you would completely forsake and let go of all these things, if only you would stop searching and hoping for things you know you can never have. Then would I fill you, then would I be your satisfaction. Fight for this, fight for this state My love and you will find peace.

Praise is the antidote that will cure up all your pain and hurt feelings. For praise is the voice of faith When you're singing and praising Me and being cheerful, and you're not letting the lies and doubts of the devil get you down, then that means you're having faith in Me, you trust Me that even if things don't look good to you right now, you know that it'll be ok in the future,[even if that future is in Heaven]. So this is your weapon of choice, praise. Even if you wake up in the morning and you feel absolutely rotten, and thoroughly sick of living, just grab all your feelings, murmurs, doubts, and fears and stuff them into your "to be discarded bag". And then look up, and see the sun shine and hear the sweet singing of the birds, and breathe in that fresh air! And let My spirit rest upon you and give you faith and courage for what's ahead. And don't stop there, don't just mentally accept what's happening to you, but pull out the keys of praise, and let them shine out for everyone to see. Let them brighten up your dark little mind, let them clear up all that's not of Me, let them bring peace and love to your soul. Whenever you encounter a situation, no matter what it is, approach it with praise. When [the battles come], and all your feelings start flaring up, just praise Me for how much you're learning from this [situation], praise Me for how close this situation has brought you to Me, praise Me and don't stop until the devil is fleeing in terror. And you'll find that this attitude will fill you with faith and trust. If you can just look at each situation you get into with a mindset of praise, then everything will be ok, you won't have to endure such agony all the time, nor will the devil just be able to come into your mind with all his doubts and fears. Make him afraid of you darling, make him think twice before challenging you, make him think of you as the hot, flaming praise user that burns him whenever he dares to get near. Apply this counsel in every area of your life. Like ... when your mind drifts to the lowlands and how life could've been had you been born into a different life, when you feel plain old discontent and dissatisfied with how things are, that's when you grab out the flaming weapon of praise and start firing away! Don't let the devil get away with saying whatever he wants, don't allow him to fill you with these horrible feelings, use the keys and praise and watch him cower and flee in fight. You know they work, you know they do that. So why don't you use them more? Ok, I'm expecting to see you fighting and beating this fracker back a lot more now. I love you! Keep fighting!

So sweetheart, if you're going to suffer for something, if you're going to wake up and fight thru each day, if you're going to live at all, why don't you live for something that's gonna last forever? Why don't you live for the real world, for eternity? Why don't you make decisions that are going to make a difference? Why don't you forsake your pride and all your hang ups, and just be the best disciple you can? Why do you need to hang onto your desires and hope that they get fulfilled? Why don't you just yield? Just surrender to what's happening in your life, just accept, just let go of your image, your self and all its stupid wants. Give in to the spirit, give to Me, and let Me run your life. Or else you can run off into the world and try and find your real destiny. Feeding pigs? Working as a waiter? Or maybe managing a supermarket? Or even if you got a really good job with a really high pay, is that your destiny? Let Me tell you, it is not. You are not of this world, you were made to usher in the kingdom of God, you are the ambassador of the most high, and would you forsake that for a mess of pottage? Even for all the pleasures of the world, would you give up this your high calling? If you did you still wouldn't be happy. Imagine everything you want, the perfect relationship, the perfect house, the perfect food, the perfect environment, basically a perfect heavenly life yet on earth. All that the world offers could be yours, all the "bliss" and "joy" it can give, and yet you still wouldn't be happy, you would still be dissatisfied and empty. For the things of earth do not satisfy, they only make you more hungry. So what do you want? The life of a serf, a super, or a super-duper? Everyone suffers, everyone gives their lives for something, the rewards of living for the here and now are more obvious and look more enjoyable, but the rewards of living for Me last forever, they make a difference, they don't dry up and blow away as soon as you die, they live on after you.

(Star:) I will bless the Lord at all times, His praise shall continually be in my mouth! Remember my love, that we are praise angels as well as guardians and protectors. We are always singing to our Lord, we are always praising Him and loving and seeking to please Him. For has He not said, that the praises of His people are as sweet perfume? And also, he dwells in the praises of his people? To offer praise unto Jesus is an act of surrender, you are yielding to him and what he's doing to you, you are showing Him that you accept his will and are even happy about it. This is very pleasing to Him, and brings him great joy. That's why when you praise you physically feel better, cause you are feeling some of the joy of Jesus. And it's especially good when you can praise when you're not feeling good at all, when you're really going thru the mud and the trials and everything looks dark and painful, but you still praise and trust Him. This really shows us your faith and your determination, that you're willing to trust Jesus and praise Him even when you don't understand.

Praise is the voice of faith. And that's what we wanna see, your faith in us to deliver you. We wanna see whether you trust Jesus enough that you will praise despite your pain, and despite all the things that bother you. If you can do this, then you have great faith. And those are the ones we're looking for, the most desperate ones, the most serious, the ones who will give everything they've got just to remain in this training. Do you want to be here that much? Are you willing to sacrifice everything for Jesus, just because he asked it of you? Even if you see no good reason for giving something up, or for going thru something this painful, can you still put your will on Jesus' side? Well, those are the ones we want. Those crazy, insane followers and believers who will do whatever it takes to remain here. So trust Him. When you find yourself sunk in the mud of your trials, don't cry out that He is merciless and only desires to see you suffer and break, but let your breaking heart peal out a song, a song of love, a song of trust, a song of faith. And you will find that the mud you hated so much isn't so bad anymore, you'll find that you could even endure it a bit longer if necessary. Sing [Fletcher], you'll find that it will completely change your perspective of the battles. I know you do this to an extent already, but you need to do it more, you need to become more practiced at using the weapons. Remember what you were reading yesterday? How you are in elite training to prepare you for the most dangerous missions, the ones the normal troops aren't able to do, and you're going to have to have a clean, ready channel that can tune into us in any situation, no matter how chaotic or noisy? And this is the time to prepare, this is training time. So do not waste what you've been given, do not throw away the precious time you've been blessed with. You have no idea how blessed you are, you have been picked out of the world and brought here to an isolated little farm (island called farm) out in the bush of Ghana. You look at it as a punishment, but we up here can see the whole picture, and we can see quite clearly that if you did not go thru this specific training, [the battle of sickness], then you would not be ready for what Jesus has for you. So instead of murmuring about how every day is exactly the same and there's nothing fun to do and you're so lonely and hungry, utilize this time and really get as much lessons as you can out of it. Give us your best and we will give you the best. Every day you must accept what's happening to you, you must yield to Jesus' will and commit to do whatever he tells you. And right now he wants you to just surrender, stop looking for satisfaction in the things around you, you already know nothing from this earth will fill your starving spirit, you already know that Jesus is the only way and the only real thing in this world. So give up your search and come and lie down at His feet, and let Him feed you, let Him satisfy your hungry little heart. He is more than worth it. And you need to stop focusing so much on just surviving. The goal is not to get thru the day, the goal is to get as much out of your day as you can. You're here to learn stuff, right? Then that's what you should be trying to do each day, learn your lessons. We are always here, waiting for you to call. We are always ready to help you, you just have to remember to call us.

Stop resisting, stop fighting, stop trying so hard, stop kicking and pushing for your own way. Just calm everything down and yield to what I'm doing in your life, just accept and everything will become clear. Look at everything you dislike, everything you hate, everything you wish would just change, look at all your fears, look at your whole life, now take it all and put it into My hands. Trust Me for everything, don't keep desperately hoping for things to change; forsake all your wants and personal desires, let them go. Just yield yourself to doing exactly what I and others tell you.

As we lie here together on the beach I take your hand and lay it on My chest. And as we watch the glorious sunset, I express My love and care for you. "I love you My precious bride, I cry when you cry, I'm hurt and broken when you despair of life and wish to die, there's nothing else I want than to reach thru the veil and wipe away your tears and be the one you wish and cry for. But baby, right now I cannot. I can only speak to you from this side. And right now I want to tell you, you need to accept what's happening to you. I know you keep telling yourself and Me that you accept, that you yield, that you surrender, that you give Me leave to do whatever I want to. But sweetheart, your actions are contrary to what you say. You say I can do whatever I need to, but when I do that, you get angry at Me and others, you don't do what you're meant to, and that's come to Me and let Me love and comfort you. You can't do that if you wanna grow. [When your battle becomes too much] don't let despair, frustration, anger, or anything overcome your mind. But lift that staff of praise, and let the light shine out. Bring out your phial, lift it high for all to see, let it illumine your path and drive away all the evil demons of darkness. Don't be afraid, never fear what is to come upon you, never let that sick demon of fear cloud your mind and distract you from using that phial. For as soon as you take it out, all your enemies are powerless. So bring it out every time you need to, don't listen to your enemies lies, they're damn afraid of you, that's why they want so badly for you to give up, to yield to them. So they can take your beautiful little light and destroy it. Don't give in to them My dear fire heart! Don't listen to their words, their fears, their temptations. Come now, unbutton a few buttons on that shirt and pull out your phial. And now bask in its beautiful, calm, soothing light. Let it strengthen you, encourage you and empower you for the rest of the journey. I love you My precious one, My dear faithful fire heart. Don't ask for your fire to be dimmed, don't let the enemy tell you it's bad, don't let the intense pain make you give in, but learn to go deeper into that flame and find what treasures are hidden there. I promise I am always here, I am sitting right here in the fire with you, I'm trying to get you to see what a beautiful place you're in." I lift your chin up from staring down and I kiss you, and as I draw back you can see the fire burning in My eyes. "I have a passionate desire for you, please keep giving Me your heart. I can see you're a bit weak right now, so why not jump on My back? Let Me carry you for a bit. Don't worry, you're not heavy, it'll be a synch for Me. Now you rest back there ok? Let's keep moving. I love you so much baby!"

The Word of Prophecy and the Power of the Keys are the Guiding Stars that will lead you through these next 40 days and on into the last few years of history. Hold them to thy bosom and cherish them. Look to them when it is dark, for they are your source of light.

I had a dream that I was walking on the seaside, and I saw a pair of foot prints going off into the distance. I can remember feeling apprehension when looking at them, wondering whose footprints they were. But then a scene skipped or something and I was standing on the beach right in front of Jesus, looking up into his face. But sad to say I couldn't really determine his features, you know how it is in dreams. And we talked, I think, I know something happened. And then another scene skipped and I was alone again, looking at the footprints in the sand, this time feeling comforted and confident that He was watching over me. And the whole time it never entered my mind that I was seeing this well-known thing, the footprints in the sand, while I was dreaming it was just something that was happening, I mean, I even felt apprehension when I looked at them. And then a few days later I got a new song, it was called, Where Were You. These are the some of the lyrics. Where were you, when my worst fears were coming true, where were you, I thot you'd come to my rescue... One set of footprints on the path I've been on, yet you say you were there all along, if you really loved me, like nobody else, why was I walking thru hell?..... where were you when I had no one to run to, you were right there, you carried me thru! On your shoulders black and blue, I never knew, the footprints in the sand were you... One set of foot prints on the path I've been on, now I know they were yours all along.

Sweetheart, this is the road to finding that I am enough. It's a long, difficult, and painful road, yet the destination is worth all that you must go thru. Do you know what long means? It doesn't mean you suffer for a few days and then, bingo you've arrived, I'm enough for you. And it's not all about how much you can suffer or endure either, I use the breakings to push you towards Me, yes, but that's not what this is all about. The breakings are meant to take you to the place where you know I am all you need. You don't need anything this world has to offer, you know that you've found the best thing in the universe and nothing can match it, so you are content. It takes many years for you to truly know that I am enough, to gain that lasting love bond with Me. And that's what I've been doing with you. 2022 March I brought you out here on this ~~farm~~ Island to use the rest of your days drawing closer to Me and learning lessons. That's why you came to earth right? ... So baby, keep your eyes on Me, I know how easy it is to start looking at the waves, to get your focus on what's around you, especially if what's around you, [or within you], is hurting and distracting you. ... This battle is all about learning endurance. I want to make you into a fighter, I don't want you to stay as the passive, weak, push over that you are. So far this battle has really taught you a lot, it's really grown you up spiritually and physically. So I will continue to use it. So when it seems to drag on interminably, remember that I am only using it because it works, it's not because you're so slow and not learning your lessons. But if you don't accept what I'm trying to tell you here, then I will have to keep it going for longer. So please darling, learn what you need to, yield to My will, accept what's happening to you, and let Me work in your life the way I know best, and when you don't understand, just trust Me.

In distractions or temptations, instead of combating them directly, which would only serve to augment them, and to wean us from God, with whom alone we ought to be occupied, we should simply turn away from them, and draw nearer to God; as a little child, seeing a fierce animal approaching it, would not stay to fight it, nor even to look at it, but would run for shelter to its mother's arms, where it would be safe. "God is in the midst of her, she shall not be moved: God shall help her, and that right early" (Ps. xlv. 5). M Guyon

Just like what Dad said in his letter, "Diamonds of Dust", if you want to chase the darkness out, don't try and physically shoo it out the door, but turn the light on and it will flee of itself. That's precisely what I want you to do in this situation. When the temptations start coming, when the devil starts barraging you with his doubts and lies, when you start getting overwhelmed, don't try and stop the flow of the enemy's words, just come and rest yourself in Me. Let Me calm the raging of your heart, let Me take care of your situation. For that is how you will win this battle, by coming to Me and resting in My words. And then obeying them as much as you can.

The enemy is attacking the only weak link that is left in your armor. Once this crack has been sealed and locked by the Keys his attacks on your spirit will become less and less effective; the answer can be found in the Keys. This month is the month of the Keys; you have to make a concerted, determined effort to make the Keys a very part of your spiritual armor. You have been using them a lot more, but there is more, they have much more to give you than you realize. The Keys are the key to breaking through the final barrier, through the purple mist and into the generators themselves. Transparency, you have to be transparent to this world, it is an impossible concept for the carnal mind to grasp, so you have to let go of the carnal side of your mind, you have to put on the spiritual mind, the mind of your Lover through a deeper more intimate relationship with your Blue angels. To be the conduits of power that is needed you have to stop thinking with the carnal mind, you have to let go and allow the Keys to take over your thinking and thoughts. Push those Key in and they will push the old ways and the old man out. Turn on the Keys and the darkness will flee of itself. You've been told this for years now, but it hasn't sunk in as much as it needs to and that is because you still have that carnal desire to understand, to see before believing. Use this month to really push the Word and the Keys into your mind in order that the last remaining vestiges of the world is flushed out. Don't tell yourself that this can't be done, that it is impossible to erase every trace of the world in your minds. You just have to shut that door every time the enemy says you can't close it, that you have to keep it open. To be the miracle workers of the End then you need to be fully soaked in the Word and the Keys, to be absolutely absorbed in the spirit of what needs to be done at this stage. It is not a work of the flesh it can only be achieved by taking in as much as your tiny sponge can absorb plus a little more. Stretch that sponge by taking in more of the water of the Word.

You have in your mind that you're already fighting as hard as you can and doing the best you can, and if you were to take anymore battles, you'd probably collapse in a pile of broken pieces and tears. I'm sorry baby, but you don't even know what you're capable of, this is only the beginning of what I can do thru you. You think you can't run anymore, you can't struggle any longer, you can't put up with this pain for another day, you need a break, you need some recuperation. No baby, what you really need is a good shot of the fighting serum of David. Something to go into your veins and get your blood pumping again, get your desperation levels up, get you serious about fighting. So let's call over our Knights of Victory friends and get them to give you an injection. And as you feel the liquid running thru your body, you must accept the changes it brings, you must allow it to enter every part of you and create something new inside of you. You can't ask for it and then resist its flow. You have to let it have free access to all parts of you. So now honey, what you must do is take the weapons I've given you as seriously as you can. When you get into a painful situation, fight with praise, the Heavenly vision, and spirit helpers, do not let the enemy get the advantage over you by yielding to his thots and lies and dwelling on the negative. Yield My love, yield and let go. Let the spirit helpers you call on take away all the weights you carry, let them completely free you from all the crap of the enemy. And when you have some free time, fill it up with prayer, don't let the devil trick you into wasting it on useless thots and daydreams, but invest in your time and make every second count. This My love, is your testing grounds for the future, and how well you do here will determine what kind of job I'll be able to give you later. So please honey, make Me proud by giving this life your whole heart. I love you! I promise that if you can give up your heart to praying for others, all your needs will be met and your hungers satisfied. I will meet you half way and I will fill you, I will give you Myself, and you will never want or desire anything else. Keep fighting!

You must be content My love. This is where I placed you, and what you have is what I've given you. Don't look at others and all the "better blessings" you think they have, but look to Me and be happy with what I've given you. Remember, everyone has their own path to walk and their own battles to fight; I don't make two lives identical, because the people living them aren't identical. Different things affect different people. So if you're looking at another's life and wishing you had that one thing they have, and wondering why I give it to them and not you, remember this; I want you all to learn your lessons and be better disciples, so I bring difficulties into your lives. But I never completely take everything away from you and leave you with no blessings or perks; I like to give you some of the things you like because I like seeing you happy. Yet I also know I can't give you whatever you want. So I give you a few little blessings here and there, according to your obedience. So please My love, try and be content with your bag of blessings, try not to look at others with jealousy. Being jealous and angry at someone will only rot your heart and draw you further away from Me. Look at what I've given you, you're all alone, a perfect opportunity to draw closer to Me, and fall in love with Me.

Why must [this] affect me so, you cry. Remember My dearly beloved, it doesn't matter [what it is], your battle could be anything, it could be comparing, it could be boredom, it could be lethargy, it could be any number of those things, and you know how intense and hard to overcome some of those are when they're deeply ingrained. It only matters about Me and drawing closer to Me, it doesn't really matter what it is that is pushing you there. So please darling, accept that this is what I'm using to break you and start striving to obey Me and My word. Stop thinking your battles are the hardest, stop getting angry and blaming [Me] for all your troubles and pain. Look up into My eyes and trust Me, I have a very good purpose for allowing this to continue on. Don't let your pain and despair make you angry at Me or anyone else, and especially don't let it make you run to worldly entertainment. Please baby, I know what you're feeling, I know how you want peace and escape, but now is not the time, right now I just need you to trust Me. I promise, I will not let this go on for a day longer than is necessary. Hold on My dear bride, apply the word you just read, use praise, yield to Me, fight in prayer, and TRUST ME. And remember I use the difficult things in life to teach you lessons. Think about the missionaries of the past and all they experienced and take heart, for if I could hold them thru their much harder battles, then I will be with you thru these painful [sickness] trials. If you didn't have these painful things in your life then you would never make progress, life would be simple, everything would be satisfying and you wouldn't need Me, you could just float along happily. So I bring the wind and the fire, to sweep thru your life and destroy all that is not of Me. It looks merciless and cruel to you, and you cry as you watch everything you love get burned up. But when it's over, and you feel truly alone and forsaken in your pile of ashes, I come to you, and I give you a new packet of seeds to plant in your life. I promise My love, that when the time comes that all My seeds are fully grown and mature, you will know for a fact that all [these battles with sickness were for your good]. So look ahead My dear and hope in the Heavenly vision, hope in Me, hope in the love we share! I love you! Keep fighting! And seek to be loving and humble in your reactions to others.

Hi Clear sorry for my murmuring but I am so sensitive to noise, I hate it, I hate it, I hate it so much, and I'm trying to hear from you with that noisome pestilence happening around me. Thank you for listening I should stop soon and you can tell me what I need to hear. Can't that God damned machine be destroyed; it is not as if they can't do their milling somewhere else like they have for years. Why is it sitting right on our doorstep sweet Clear. Why don't my prayers and I'm sure the kids are praying too against that filthy curse of Satan, send the damned thing back to hell from whence it came I put a Key curse on it and the demons that brought that filthy idol here in the first place. If Grandmother can curse a whole temple and it falls into the sea why can't the Keys do it to that damned machine and factory? What am I doing wrong what aren't I doing what am I doing to displease my Lover?

Prophecy: I did not bring that affliction upon you because of your sins, but that I might be glorified. How is that Jesus, how can you be glorified through that machine? Every second it runs makes my blood boil, I hate this earth and what it has become under the greedy selfish hand of man. Patience is a far more important lesson than removing that piece of metal. You know I can and I will do it in My perfect time; but patience must have its perfect work in your life. You must call on the Keys of patience and faith, for these are the lessons I have for you at this time and that machine is the way that I am doing it. This is how I am being glorified; I am being glorified through your yieldedness to My will in your life. (Jesus smiles as the rain begins to falls heavily on our zinc roof and washes the noise away) I love you My dearest bride, I know of your weakness and I know of your hatred for all that is fake and of the devil on My beautiful planet. It will all soon be gone and finished forever, keep praying and calling on the Keys and every one of your prayers will be answered to the T. I know you long to be gone from there and back in My arms, and I long for that even more than you do My love. It won't be long now, it won't be long before all of creation will find the rest and peace that it yearns for. Thank you for coming to Me with this heavy burden, I know it is too heavy for you to bear and I desire with all My heart to lift it from you. Just by calling on the Keys they go to work immediately in your heart and mind.

January 1 2023

My dear love! What are you holding onto? What do you want? Say it, think about all that would make you happy, just let yourself go for a second. ... That life you've dreamed up sure sounds like the life of a systemite, not a sold out follower of Jesus. Sure there are times to abound, there are times when a lot of your physical needs are taken care of, but now is not that time, now is when you must be content in the wilderness. For in the wilderness there's not much variety, there's not much "fun", and there's not really much of what you want. There's hardships, there's battles, and there's things you need to learn. You know all this already, you know what is expected of a disciple, you know what you need to do, you know you shouldn't be giving in to these feelings, you know you need to fight, you know you need to make it past this lesson. You know it, so why are you resisting? It is hard to kick against the pricks, for stubbornness is as idolatry and rebellion as the sin of witchcraft. My love, look into My eyes. You have come this far, you have given up this much, you have not yielded to the devil, don't start giving in now, it is too late already, don't start getting tired when you're almost there!
