

From your child to you xxxxx

Come Into the Light

And the light shineth in darkness, and the darkness did not comprehend it.

Be willing to be stripped bare, abandon all false cover-ups, and just expose yourself to Him.

Come, and strip off all of the outer garments of appearances, cover-ups and false fronts, and expose yourself to the Lord, totally yielding yourself to Him in submission and humility. You must be willing to be stripped bare before Him. You're just you, and that's what He wants, you!-All of you! (Our Patient Lover: Questions and Answers on Loving Jesus [#3559])

I was talking with somebody the other day and said, "Look, you're just you. The Lord loves you. He loves that you love Him, and He loves that you serve Him, and He loves that you do things for Him and others. But the main reason He loves you is because you're His creation. He made you the way you are and He loves you just the way you are."

Of course we want to progress, we want to do better, we want to love Him more and be more attuned to Him and all of those things--and that's good. But we have to remember that He doesn't love us because we work so hard. He loves us simply because He loves us, and He made you the way you are. (Unrealistic Expectations)

I seek after those who are weak in their own eyes, who are broken, humble, and honest; those who confess their faults, who even let themselves appear weak before others that My strength might be seen.

(Weakness Revolution-Part 2)

Those who suffer from a strong spirit of pride also suffer from strong fears of losing their image.

Pride often results in fear—

fear of exposure;

fear of being shown weak or incapable; ☹

fear of the consequences; fear of losing the respect of others;

fear of losing authority;

fear of how others will see you of their opinions if they know the truth;

fear of the humbling;

fear of the breaking that comes with the humbling;

fear of not being in control; fear of being open and honest

They're afraid of the mistakes they will make.

They're afraid of the things they don't know.

They're afraid of the future.

They're afraid of being free in the spirit and letting Me take control!

(Stay Humble! [#3235])

Psalms 51: 6 Behold, thou desirest truth in the inward parts: and in the hidden part thou shalt make me to know wisdom.

For a long time you have been clean outwardly and you have received the Word in part. But now that you have lay down and let Me undress you...the Word can begin to take effect and change you inwardly. You want the steps to freedom I say...love instead of withholding. Love those whom you are afraid of loving, hug and compliment them and do the humble thing when you can, but most of all undress yourself before Me daily.

I might not even touch you, save to toss you into the water, but undress and show Me your motives, your desires no matter how dubious. Tell Me them and that will be like taking them off and tossing them in the fire. Once they are said to Me and to yourself they become like clothing when it is removed --limp and lifeless.

Tell Me your heart and I will wash away the darkness from you. You are sick, so must you do this daily and not hold back any of your secret selfish thoughts or real intentions...show Me the worst and let Me tear them from you. Do this every day...say to Me in your mind or write them down, but get out the darkness and tell Me the truth. Then as you tell Me these things I can begin to erase and rewrite. Don't be afraid; there is no semblance of goodness between us and now I can begin to work on your inward parts. No one really sees the darkness within and you yourself fear it, but show Me and hold not back any wicked thing, for in holding back you are still trying to deceive yourself into thinking you are not as bad as all that. Let them fall away, all rightness, all covers and things that made you feel better about yourself. Say no more and I will make it no more. Show Me the "you", you are and bare your true self before Me that I might make her no more. With each vestige that you remove, I will restore unto you life; a new life and reason for living.

How misery has covered your days all because you are living for the wrong thing. How dull your life was and how you have forced yourself to do this and to do that, when all you needed was love.

103. (Jesus:) At the end of your life when you come Home to see Me, what do you think I'm going to care about the most? Do you think that I'll say, "Well done, you sure got a lot done; enter into the joy of your Lord," if those successes came at the price of neglecting loving interaction with your brothers and sisters?

104. I'm talking to those of you who get so focused on the work and all that you think you need to do that you start to see your brothers and sisters as hindrances to your progress. I'm talking to those of you who push aside the most important aspect of all--love--in preference to getting "one more thing" done on your to-do list. I'm talking to those of you who are so accomplishment-oriented that you've forgotten that you're on Earth to be love-oriented, and that without love, nothing else you do will profit you anything.

105. I know you all remember 1 Corinthians 13, right? Those aren't just Paul's words; that wasn't just his personal standard, or just true in his personal life. Those words came from Me. They are too beautiful and true and everlasting to just be Paul's own idea. They were directly inspired by Me, because they show how I feel; they expose My heart and how I judge when it comes to accomplishments vs. love. It says that if you do all those things, but don't have love, it profits you nothing. No profit = no good. Do you understand? That means that things done without love, or things accomplished at the cost of showing love and compassion and care for others, are unprofitable work--a waste of time, idle work, useless work, work no better in My eyes than the idle words you'll have to give account for.

106. No profit means that it didn't help you any. You might think that your haste and hurry and the lacks in your kindness and consideration of others will be justified in the end, but they won't be. The end will not justify the means. You can rush through life "getting stuff done," but you will have failed if you don't take time to care for others, to love them, to be Me for them, and to even delay the more important things you have to do in order to show those immediately around you that you care about them and their needs and that they matter to you.

107. I know that many of you have important jobs for Me, important duties for the Kingdom, and I thank you for being such faithful servants. But being a faithful servant, as important as that is, is not a higher priority than obeying the first two commandments. Those are your highest priorities of all: to love Me and love others. No matter what your to-do list says, you should always imagine that written above your top priority are two extra items: Love Me and love others. Getting your first priority done without doing those extra two means you really only did third best, which isn't good enough. That's failing in My books.

108. There's nothing that can compensate for a lack of love. There are no works that you can do which will make it okay that you didn't care for those around you. There's no task that is so great that I'll say it was okay that you treated others rudely or roughly or like hindrances to your plans in order that you could accomplish it. And since you cannot make up for a lack of love, the only solution, if you want your life to amount to anything in the next world, is to show that love. Love is life. Love is the only way to live. The greatest of these is love.

109. Some of you might think that what you're doing is manifesting love for Me via your hard work, or love for the lost via the works that you are doing to bring them to salvation. That is true in many cases. Yet even those works cannot supersede the personal love that I want to show to those immediately around you through your personal acts and words of kindness to them. It's like John said about not being able to love Me whom you haven't seen, if you can't love your brothers whom you do see (1John 4:20).

110. So don't let the Enemy trick you into thinking that whatever you're doing is more important than love. Being too hasty or rude, or being short-tempered with people, making people feel unimportant, being impatient, being too busy to smile at someone or show My love in other ways, all these things will render your task meaningless in the end. I will not look at it and say, "Well, you weren't kind, you weren't loving, you didn't have charity, but boy oh boy, you sure got some stuff done, so it's okay." That's a deception of the Enemy when you think that way; it's not how I work or judge things.

111. I want you to stop for others, to make people feel important, to make people feel that you care about them, and that regardless of how busy you are, they matter too; they matter even more than whatever project it is that you're working on.

112. I'll close this message to you with some other words, perhaps less known than those of Paul, but also inspired by Me. They are found in Charles Dickens' novel, "A Christmas Carol." I helped to get this message into that story, because it is so vitally important, just as much now as when it was written, and even more so because the world is getting so much faster, and people's hearts are growing so much colder.

113. In the story, Scrooge is visited by the ghost of Jacob Marley, his old business partner, who expresses to Scrooge how much regret he has in the afterlife that he didn't show more charity, that he wasn't a better man, or in so many words, wasn't more loving. Scrooge tries to comfort him by pointing out his good points and saying, "Well, you were always a good man of business." Or as you might put it today, "You always got a lot of stuff done." But Jacob Marley replies, "Mankind should have been my business."

114. How about you? Is mankind your business? Is your top priority to love others? --Even above the press of your daily work? It'd better be, or you too will be filled with regret that your works have turned to ashes, and without love, you have nothing to show for all that other stuff you did.

115. Start today to make a change! Learn to love others! Make that your top priority, your business. Go full-time into the business of love. Love is what the Kingdom of God is made out of. Therefore if you're loving, you're seeking first the Kingdom of God! And then the promise will hold true that everything else--all the success you need--will be added unto you. (End of message.) (Shooting Straight, Part 5 [#3503])

IF WE'RE GOING TO GROW & IF WE'RE GOING TO MATURE & BE OBEDIENT TO THE LORD, THEN WE'VE GOT TO GROW IN LOVE, NOT JUST IN FAITHFULNESS IN OUR JOB! The Lord didn't say faithfulness was the most important thing, He said love is the most important thing! Although faithfulness is important, "The greatest of these is love!" Faithfulness in your work is very important, to endure it as a good soldier & to be able to sit at your desk hour after hour & work hard, that's all very good & important, but if you don't have love, you don't have anything! YOU MAY DO YOUR WORK WELL, BUT IF YOU HAVEN'T LEARNED TO WORK WITH OTHERS & HOW TO LOVE THEM & HOW TO TREAT THEM, THEN YOU'RE MISSING THE MAJOR LESSON OF WHY WE'RE HERE IN THE FIRST PLACE! We need to learn to love people & how to take care of them & how to keep them happy. We need to learn that people are different & we can't treat them all the same. There are so many things written about how the Lord wants us to treat people differently according to their needs. That's why the Lord said, "Comfort the feebleminded." (1Thes.5:14) "Pity the weak" & "on our most uncomely parts do we bestow the greatest care." (1Cor.12:23) I'm not by any means suggesting that anyone here is feebleminded, but just trying to point out that Jesus Himself was very mindful of human weaknesses & didn't require the same kind of behaviour from everyone or that the same treatment be used with everyone. (Love Is the Most Important Thing! [#1793])

Those who are following My Spirit closely and are trying to emulate My ways don't have to fear losing their image, because they're trying to make My image their image, so they have nothing to fear.

The humble are not afraid because they've already accepted that they are nothing, that they know nothing, and can do nothing without Me and without the love and help of others.

They've learned that I truly am in control, so there's nothing to fear. (WOW)

Those who have not learned to depend on Me are always afraid of their own weaknesses.

So let go and be set free of this trap of the Enemy to hold you back and suppress My Spirit.

(Jesus --) you see? When it's all about you, you are in reality suppressing My Spirit. When you are actually only seeking to do this or that to somehow add merit to yourself or because of your pride and wondering what others will think if you don't...you aren't free. You are living in bondage of pride and fear of the opinions of man. Yes, you didn't see yourself as someone with that weakness, but that's what it is. You have your little image and you go to great lengths to preserve it and look down on anyone who doesn't meet up to your standard. You are actually a very insecure person, always looking at others and comparing and hoping that you are matching up.

You are always trying to add to your worthiness, but in reality all I want is your love.

You try to appear willing, but this often backfires on you because you don't have the right motives; you want praise for your good works. You're heavily laden with burdens and cares you've placed on your own shoulders, yet you tend to blame your struggles on the work, on the people you live with, on your shepherds, on your Home, and even on the Lord. Your self-centered, self-pity attitude is misery for you and a drag for others. It's difficult to pull out of this sorry state, because as you see things, life is harder for you, and new challenges are a drag.

It's akin to the Scribes and Pharisees who tried to keep every jot and tittle of the law to prove to others that they loved the Lord and that they followed His Word. But they were full of hot air, because they didn't live the doctrine, they didn't live in love, and they didn't have the energy of the Spirit running through their veins. They were empty, self-satisfied, critical hypocrites with their stinking holier-than-thou attitudes. Don't you be the same way!

You've read in the Word many times how the battles and tests in life are good for you--they bring a richness of spirit that can't be obtained any other way. But you want to prove you're made of tough stuff and that you can handle the battles on your own. Rather than letting the Lord work through you, you lean on self-works, which turn out to be nothing but dead works. (Shooting Straight, Part 13 [#3536])

What if I got real honest?

What if I took a risk?

What if I opened up my heart

And let you see in?

What if I took my mask off?

Trying to fit in

I don't wanna be a mannequin

What if I let my guard down?

What if I took a breath?

What if I wasn't perfect?

What if I was just a mess?

What if I bled my soul out

Givin' all I could give?

I'm so tired of pretending

(Prophecy) When you try so hard to prove that you are good and are always struggling to uphold the image you want others to see, you are sitting in darkness and you can't see Me and, baby I can't see you, because you are covered in darkness of self-goodness. What a heavy burden of image you bear. You so fear that others will see the truth, so you push yourself and you uphold your pride and yes you give it more importance than Me. Come into the light and let Me see the real you. When you lack real love, every labor profits nothing. You don't want anyone to see what's really inside and the high standard you uphold and how you are critical of those who fail to meet it. You are good at pushing yourself and forcing yourself to just do it, but, honey, without love it's all darkness covering you and trapping you in this vicious cycle. Fighting anorexia did serve to destroy some of that perfection image, but you still try so hard just to prove you deserve something. In fact if you don't try so hard, you feel you don't deserve anything. Is it your works that give you merit? Or do they somehow make you better? No, no one is worthy; no one deserves it; but your problem is that when you successfully reach your standard you feel, "yes I am worthy now" and when others fail to reach it, they are unworthy. You measure and compare so much instead of just trying to see other's strengths are different and I use them differently. You have a place to fill and it's hard work sometimes but that doesn't make you better than anyone else. You need to see it's all about love not proving you are stronger or better than you are. Your service has to be out of love or it's vanity and of none effect. It has to be because you love him or her or them that you are willing to do it. It's not like you say okay I'll do it, but inside you aren't okay and your pride can't even muster up the strength because you see no glory in what you are doing. Only My love in you has the strength to do it every time without the bitter feelings and the resentment. You have to be a love slave, not a slave in chains with a whip at your back. That's what it is like when you aren't serving for love. Your balance is so delicate and you are so impatient because it's built on self-goodness and self-righteousness which in the end will fail you and everyone will take a good look at the darkness within. (End of prophecy)

They know they need Me and they readily acknowledge this to Me and to others. So they're not afraid because they know that I will have to help them, and they've learned that I don't fail when they cry out to Me.

They've learned through experience, through humblings, that I am always ready to answer their needs and their cries for help, so they rest in Me and depend upon Me to carry them through and to work through them. They've learned the power of prayer and the power of My Spirit. So they pray and trust, they pray and listen, they pray and obey, and thus they are not afraid, for they let Me lead the way. (Stay Humble)

This is another lesson on pride and yes, disappearing. If you are sure of yourself and confident, you won't pray or you won't pray desperately. If you are constantly feeling like you have to be doing something in the flesh, and pushing, you aren't transparent enough and you don't realize that it's all about Me and My power. You have to realize that I am the only one who can do it and I need you to step out of the way so I can work, but first you have to invoke the keys and the spiritual weapons so I can about playing My part which is the biggest. You have to be willing to disappear into the spirit, and just let Me be seen. No one can really take credit for praying or calling on the keys. That's why I have to break you, so you would be willing to fill the humble place of a prayer warrior. You disappear I alone am glorified. This is transparency, My darling. This is the ultimate in depending on Me. You disappear through prayer and through relying My strength and not your own. This is the way to shine My light out. This is part of your destiny, because to wield the keys you must pray. To finish the final key you must use the Blue Key in prayer and without the declaration out of your spirit and heart that power is not released. I'm calling you to pray. I'm calling you to fade into the background and let Me shine brighter. Instead of trying so hard in the flesh, step back, sit down and pray. Yes you have to go witnessing and stuff but if you pray as I desire you to, you will fulfill the part I want you to play. Whatever you need; whatever lacks or burdens you have, cast them on Me through prayer and then proceed to follow through in whatever I show you. Forget yourself through prayer and realize the needs of others. Be unselfish through praying for others when you feel sad or upset. It's prayer, My love, this is the answer and the way to truly shine My light and let Me take the glory. Call on the keys and fade behind their beauty, their brightness.

Sky (blue angel): You can even ask us what to pray for. When you are yielded and listening, we can pray through you. I know this is your ultimate goal, to be like us and just let God's great love and power flow through you. So this is one way that you can take steps towards becoming like us, by praying. Prayer is a yielding, and submission is what it's all about. Prayer is saying that work in the spirit is more important than the flesh. It's giving up your thoughts and what you want to do with your little mind and letting it step into the spirit world to work. This takes a lot of love and faith and yieldedness. When you pray for things, you are admitting that you can't do it all. In many cases, you can't even do anything. The only thing you can do is follow along and do your little part, like rolling away the stone. When you pray for something, you are giving it up to Jesus. You are laying it before him and asking Him to take over. So as you pull down Jesus' power into the situation, you become a channel of His power, just like us. We are yielded conduits of the power of God. The more yielded and open you are, and the less self and personal agenda are clogging your channel, then the more power can flow down through you and your prayers into this realm.

Saramay- just like we live in the power house of God, so are you when you live in prayer. Yes, you enter in so closely to the power of God when you wield prayer so intimately. Then you become like us-Conduits that the power can flow through. The more you pray the more He can pour His substance and blue light into you, replacing your nature with His. Because when you depend on prayer you are saying to Him that He is the One that has to do it and that is a direct hit on your pride, so it is the way to through fading. If you want to be filled with His blue energy, pray and realize it is all about Him and His ability to work things out without your feverish activity in the flesh. He does want you to work, but even more so He wants to see you pray and release Him, at last to do things the way He wants them done. So pray praiseful prayers, pray commanding prayers and fall at His feet in need. Show your love and need through the depth of your prayers and really give Him the chance to work in you and situations as He desires. Bury your life in the soil of desperate prayer, as you move out into the wilderness, give yourself to prayer and let go of your own ideas and dreams. Burn on the altar your own, and humbly sit here by the fire knowing only that you must call on Him. Let the incense rise and give yourself to this life. Having been stubborn and arm-of-the-flesh orientated for a long time it's time, my love, to lay down that nature and come to the altar and sacrifice and burn your ways and pride and just finally admit that you aren't strong enough. It's not going to be easy to relinquish your nature, but little by little let Him replace your mind with His as you pray and let go. Sacrifice your strong flesh and let it burn on the altar of prayer. Call on the Blue Key and say yes to the way of praying which is to disappear and let Him shine. Stop your rushing and sit down and pray here at my altar which is where the power of God is released to work. Turn the keys and take up the most important task. It might seem lowly to your carnal mind, but in reality it is the greatest calling. For you can take no credit. He alone will know what it cost you and He alone will reward you, so it is the best calling you could ever have. It's open for everybody, all you have to do is lay down your strength and pull desperately on His. No one will recognize you or praise you for all the praying you did, it's all about Him and everybody glorifies Him, so is your destiny fulfilled in giving Him His honor due. In fact unless you pray you cannot truly fulfill what you were meant to do, even physically it would not be possible, because there are strings that need to be pulled and that only He can pull, so prayer is an absolute necessity. If you don't pray for others, you will be consumed by selfishness and you will think of only your needs. (End of prophecy)

(Prophecy) So how do you live in the spirit, while in this world of flesh and mud and food and hard work and trying to survive and trials and people and difficulties and trials? You do it by bringing in the spirit at every opportunity. God's Word has power to work in your world. Even though it all seems like flesh and things that you can see, there is a parallel war going on that you don't see. All of those people around you are affected by the spiritual warfare. If you call on the Blue Key more, you could be more aware of this. People, those in your home and even though outside in the world are constantly affected by so many things, by their emotions, by their trials, by their pride, by the demons that pester them or in the case of the world, even oppress them. So even though you can't see it, there is a lot happening even in your quiet little home here. People are making choices and fighting in their own personal battlefield. But you can have an influence on them in the spirit. You can be affecting the spiritual warfare as it is being waged all around you. So if you want to live in the real world in spite of being very stuck there in the flesh, bring the spirit in more, much more. Allow yourself to be distracted from this life. Focus on the spiritual. When there is a problem, pray for it. When you have an opportunity, listen to Word instead of just allowing your mind to drift along. Then there is the part where you actually listen us and we can tell you what you are supposed to be doing in the physical to fulfil your destiny and calling there on earth.

But of course, your pride comes in and the flesh pushes its way to the forefront and it cuts down your concentration on the spiritual things. But you don't have to let it. The Word is the key. The Word is like a piece of the spirit world and if you are always turning to it and listening to it, then your pride will have less of a hold. It's like that key promise, the more you use the keys, the less hold pride will have on your life. The keys are the Word and the Word is the keys. But like it says, you have to be taking the Word in with humility. But you know what, that key promise is true, that the more you use the keys, the less hold pride will have on your life. So if you see someone that is being blocked by their pride, then you know that they haven't really been using the keys in their personal life or even their work. They are pretty full of themselves and if you were to get them to honestly tell you how often they call on the keys, it wouldn't be much. You can even see this in your own life. when you are so busy busy, you don't call on the keys. You don't feel the need or have the time or even the desire to call on the keys for things or people or situations. (End of prophecy)

John 3:29-30

He that hath the bride is the bridegroom: but the friend of the bridegroom, which standeth and heareth him, (rejoiceth greatly because of the bridegroom's voice):

This my joy therefore is fulfilled.

He must increase, but I must decrease.

I rejoice greatly; you see? It's not about anything else but hearing Him, seeing Him letting Him be seen.

It's beautiful

Yes, therefore my joy is filled. In decreasing, my joy is complete and He alone shines. Decrease through praying and just giving through the prayers you pray. Giving Him all you are through giving yourself to prayer. He must increase!

(Prophecy:) Do you see the strength of weakness? Do you see what this means?--That through your weakness My strength is made perfect? For when you have no strength of your own, and you are weak, and you are weary, and you are desperate and feel that you know not what to do, and have no wisdom of your own, or strength of your own, or ideas of your own, and you get desperate with Me and seek Me, I then pour forth My Spirit upon you. I give the answers that you seek, and the strength that you need, and the power that you desire, so you know that I do these things, and you take no credit to yourselves. You say not that your own arm has saved you, but that the arm of the Lord has been raised, and in the power of His might, all has been taken care of.

For this is the power and the strength of weakness, that you have no mind of your own, no thoughts of your own, no ideas of your own, no plans of your own, but that you seek Me and that you operate according to that which I show you. Oh, that My children everywhere would learn to stop, to look, to listen, to hear My voice, to seek My will, that they may know that which they should do day by day, hour by hour. For I will lead them and I will guide them if they will diligently seek Me, even as I lead and guide you as you cry out to Me for My answers and My direction.

51. And they shall hear a voice behind them saying, "This is the way, walk ye in it!" It may be the voice of My Word. It may be the voice of My Spirit. It may be the whispers of the helpers. It may be the burdens. It may be the voice of leadership. But they must listen and they must cry out and they must seek Me, that I may give them that which they need, and the power that they must have to accomplish My will and My purpose.

52. But when they move according to their own power and their own strength and their own plans, I can only use them at a minimum. They do accomplish good things, but they don't accomplish the best thing. But those that hear My voice, that follow Me closest, that let Me lead and guide, and who operate according to the plans that I give unto them, and they that seek Me, diligently crying out to Me, these are used to the maximum. For I can pour forth unto them all of My will, and they can accomplish all that I intend to bring forth. They can do it with effortless ease because it will be according to My plans.

53. So seek Me in weakness and in humility, knowing that you are nothing, that I may pour forth unto you My strength, My plan and My will; that you in your weakness can operate in My strength and thus accomplish that which is much greater than you could do in your own strength or in your own flesh. For your power is very, very small, but My power is very, very great!

54. Your little motor is very weak, but My grand motor has power that you know not of! And if you will let Me empower you with My motor, the power of My Spirit, you will have strength that you never dreamed possible, for you will operate in the strength and power of God, empowered by the motor of My Spirit, to take you to places you never imagined!

(Loving Jesus! Part 1 [#3024])

Psa.119:135 Make thy face to shine upon thy servant; and teach me thy statutes.

When you operate in that poor-me, self-pity attitude, you tie His hands. You put limits on Him and He can't satisfy your spirit with a full measure of joy and happiness when you're unwilling and you're following merely out of duty or because you want others to see your good works. To hell with your good works and your pitiful attempts to do the right thing in the arm of the flesh! It stinks!

Live for the Lord and this Family and the lost sheep simply out of a desire to please Him. Stop trying to prove your worth by bragging about your sacrifices. When you do, you make the commandments of the Lord--to give to Him freely, to sacrifice and surrender your life to Him fully--of no effect.

Without love, all the works of your hands are nothing.

(Shooting Straight, Part 13 [#3536])

THERE IS A LOT IN THE BIBLE ABOUT HUMAN RELATIONSHIPS & ABOUT HAVING LOVE TOWARD OTHERS. That's really the whole purpose for living, to love God & others--the whole purpose for everything is love, right? That's the most important thing! You may have a lot of gifts & talents, but if you don't have love it's nothing! And it's certainly not talking about love for your typewriter or your work! It's talking about love for the Lord & others!--And if you love God you'll love others too, because loving others is one way you show love for the Lord.

(Love Is the Most Important Thing! [#1793])

Love is total humility; total sacrifice

(Prophecy) Just be a yielded nobody willing to love when it's the hardest and to yield to someone else when you feel they're wrong. I want you to let go of your image. Your feelings of worth come from the wrong sources and I wish to strip them from you. Let Me strip you and make of your life a whatever I desire. It might look ugly to you; you will feel humbled under such garments of freedom and love. But this is what I require from you. You are a toilet remember? Are you willing to fill this place with all your heart even if it's a low position? Yes My love I must keep My hand firmly on you or else you might get lifted up. Stay down darling and keep looking up. Keep desperately looking up because you have nothing else to hold onto now. I've broken all your selfish dreams and shattered every self-absorbed hope. Submit to the routine and serve Me with all your heart doing your best not grumbling against Me because the pain and suffering you are asked to endure. Give your life to Me in cheerfulness and submission. More humblings are coming you are still at times on your high horse. Come follow Me and be a nothing a despicable ugly and weak tool. That's what I want. Someone who can lie on the hard dirty floor saying yes allowing the other to pass over. Be just a little speck of dust just there with a smile.

Not trying to be noticed but only filling the need and let My love shine through to help those around you with their burdens.

Just a help just a blessing and you'll forget all your suffering and all your pain as you learn to be nothing. Learn of Me for I am meek and lowly of heart. Be ye subjected unto Me and willing to do or be anything for Me. (End of prophecy)

"Men of force are men of faults," & their biggest fault is when they keep on going in their own strength, their own force, instead of letting the Lord work through them! (What Is "Strong"? [#2559])

PSA.65:3 Iniquities prevail against me: as for our transgressions, thou shalt purge them away.

PSA.65:4 Blessed is the man whom thou choosest, and causest to approach unto thee, that he may dwell in thy courts: we shall be satisfied with the goodness of thy house, even of thy holy temple.

Saramay- Come unto Him with everything you are and He will purge you till all that is left is an empty vessel.

Saramay what keys can I have so I can reveal all before the Lord?

As for now use the keys given above...these will serve to unbind that which is trapped and free that which is in slavery to the evil one. Call for the keys of exposure and let them strip you. These aren't light keys and when you use them you have to be ready for whatever the Lord wants to take away be it spiritual or physical.

Prophecies on Pride and Humility

So think thoughts of love--love towards others and love towards yourself. Do not be so condemning of yourself and of your failings, for I do not condemn you. I want to help you, and I shall help you overcome, as you humble yourself in My sight and in the sight of others. Seek to be humble. Seek to do those things which are humbling, and rejoice in them.

When there is a choice to do the proud thing or the humble thing, always choose to do the humble thing. For therein lies My blessing, therein lies My strength, therein lies My Love, and therein lies the joy that you seek.

You cannot struggle in your own strength to find this joy. There is no amount of works or self-improvement that you can do. You cannot work at doing a better job and trying to look better in the sight of man. That is not the path. The only path to the joy you seek is the path of humility.

So strip off the garments of pride! Strip them off, cast them aside, and lie naked before Me and before others. They will not despise you for this--they will love you and they will honor you with the honor of God! They will say, "This is the one that has taken on the beautiful, light, see-through garment of humility, the garment of Love. Oh, how she glows! For we now see that the light and the Love of our Lord shines through her. We can see it, for it is no longer covered with the dark cloak of pride. Now we see through the see-through garment of humility. Oh, how beautiful it is to see and to behold! Oh, how she radiates! Oh, how she smiles! Oh, the joy that we see in her!"

For God's way up, My dear, is down. I understand the difficulty, for it is so, so contrary--so contrary to your nature, so contrary to your make-up and to your being. But that is the test, and that requires faith: To give up that which seems right in your own mind, and to take on that which is right in the sight of God. But I will help you, I will uphold you, and I will strengthen you.

Psa.51:7 Purge me with hyssop, and I shall be clean: wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow.

Pride often results in fear-- fear of being incapable

The humble are not afraid because they've already accepted that they are nothing, that they know nothing, and can do nothing without Me and without the love and help of others. (His Strong Right Arm)

Fear not to be open and honest, for this is what I am trying to teach you--honesty, humility, love, and to acknowledge that you are nothing and can do nothing. In acknowledging your sins, and in acknowledging your weaknesses, and in acknowledging your doubts, you gain My humility and learn the precious lessons I have for you. (From Jesus with Love 2)

"For My banner is over you, and My banner is Love. And Mine anointing is over you, and Mine anointing is Love. And this is the greatest anointing that could be upon you, because Love is the power that created the universe, My Love for you."

(New Day of Love!, A [#3011])

How much do you give to those who I also love? For remember that I have no hands but yours, no eyes but yours, no heart to touch others' hearts but your heart. So in this you have been commissioned to also give.

Give and it shall be given unto you. For have I not said that inasmuch as you have done it unto the least of these, you have done it unto Me? Therefore be touched by My love in touching others with My love, with your love.

Will you ponder this when you go to bed at night? Will you look around you to all those that I have put on your path that day and see what they need? Then maybe you will comfort them, and encourage them, and love them, and give to them.

(New Day of Love!, A [#3011])

My pride is manifested in wanting to take the credit for things that I do or accomplish, or different things that I'm capable of. I really do know in my heart that it's not me; it's all the Lord, and the Lord has told me so many times that it's all Him. The Lord said that He hasn't even made me naturally capable of doing this work or given me the physical gifts to do it, but He gave me the connection with Him that allows me to pray about and get answers and the spirit helpers to help with what I need, and every little detail is just the Lord. And it's so true! I definitely know it, because if I try to do something without first getting really desperate with the Lord or really asking for His help, it just doesn't work.

It's not like I have to be convinced that it's the Lord, but the Enemy attacks me at every given opportunity because I was so deeply entrenched in pride before. He tries to get me to think, "Hey, you're pretty cool." For me it's kind of a paradox, actually, because I'm a very negative person about myself and I have been for a long time.

I guess I try to prove to others that there's actually something that I can do well, and the Enemy likes to play on that. I also compare a lot with others because I'm not as witty or charming, or I don't have a wonderful personality--there are hundreds of things. I'm very clumsy both mentally and physically. It's actually incredible that I can do the stuff I do. When it comes to other things, I just sort of flop around when I try to figure things out. So I try to compensate by showing that, "Hey, I can do such-and-such," and I try to take credit for things.

So I'd like to ask for prayer against wanting to take the credit and wanting to compare myself with others; that I will fight very actively to give the Lord the credit, and actively fight to humble myself.

There are always choices that come up, and I always have a choice in each little instance to do the proud thing or the humble thing. It's so difficult for me sometimes, incredibly difficult. That's why I need prayer, so that I can make the right choices, because each of those little things sort of map out your climb and your descent.

I'd also like to ask for prayer against negativity--to not worry about what others think of me, but to just be what the Lord wants me to be. (United Prayer Power! [#3404])

(Jesus-) You aren't prepared to be no one, in fact you don't want to be no one, you want to be noticed and acknowledged and you get your inspiration from the wrong things, so I'm coming now to tear down that notion and whatever image of strength and purity that you are trying to uphold. When you try so hard, even if you are actually unwilling inside...this bears no good fruit, it is good works without the power of love, so all is vanity; all is vain show if done only to somehow prove that you are strong enough, but it all eventually falls flat because the motivation of love is lacking.

"Forgiveness, mercy, tenderness, gentleness, acts and deeds of kindness and caring, simplicity, thoughtfulness, rewards, words of love, words of encouragement, words of praise, all the positive and good things that you can say about someone, loving touches and caresses, giving of yourselves, taking time to talk, taking time to listen, making time to share, helping to carry the load, small acts of consideration, stooping to help the other--these will show My Love and will reassure others of My Love.

"What makes you feel My Love? Think about the things that happen in your life that reassure you that I love you and others love you. There are many good answers there, and many ways that you can do the same for the one beside you: A warm greeting instead of an indifferent glance; a smile and cheerful words reassure you that everything is okay; a moment to answer a question with consideration and sincerity, instead of pressured haste and busy rush, making others feel belittled or in the way; time to help the one next to you, and in so doing, help them to feel My appreciation and that I need them, that I appreciate them and their service to Me, I appreciate their labors in the duties that I ask of them.

"The list does not really have an end, for My Love is endless and without limit and without bounds. As ye learn to seek Me and desire My Love to grow in your hearts and in your lives, ye will be thrilled at the wonderful resurrection of love in your life, at the beauty and joy of simply giving and loving others.

"Be a little channel of Jesus. Be a little duct that the refreshing, soothing, comforting waters of My Love can flow through. Be a little pansy to cheer their day. I need little channels. Upon the smallest, most insignificant, seemingly obscure stones is My great work laid." (End of prophecy.)

(Prophecy) It's all about love and in the end that is all you have to show Me. It's not about how many times you fail. You have to have the vision of love or eventually the battles will become too hard and your heart will grow weary of such labour.

Your self-righteousness can't stand the battle, that's why I have to make them impossible for you so you will have to turn to Me.

I will continue pulling out all your carpets and making it very clear to you that you have to stand on Me. If you wonder which way you can even go now, I say come to Me, sit and realize you don't have anything to prove, to Me or others. You don't have to receive beautiful prophecies; you don't have to work on everything and do everything; you don't even have to be perfectly loving because you can't; I just want you to put that factor first, but don't make it into a works trip because that will kill you. Self-condemnation is not My will for you, so come here and just love Me and know I accept you. Your wanting to work on everything and just be part of stuff is just pride and a hunger to be recognized which stands against My ways of humility and lowliness. (End of prophecy)

"And because ye are vessels that are yielded to Me, who have given your lives to Me, and who have said that ye would be used by Me as tools in My hand, it is My will to use you as tools of Love. For I am Love. This is the word that best describes My nature.

"There are many hindrances to love. But because ye have committed yourself, I will show you how to break down the hindrances. I will show you how to remove the obstacles, and I will help you to be vessels of My Love. But first ye must let Me fill you up! A vessel that is moving cannot be filled; ye must be still. Ye must provide the time for Me to fill you. Ye must be as hungry, empty vessels with open mouths, still and waiting for Me to fill you up. Ye must take this time with Me for refilling. For ye cannot pour out of an empty vessel.

"And do ye think ye will pour of yourselves? Ye will find very soon that your own love will be found wanting. As ye rub one against another, the idiosyncrasies and the quirks of another will frustrate you, and ye will say, 'Where is this great love that I am supposed to have?' Ye cannot do it by yourself, for even the little things will irk you. But ye can do it in My power! As ye fill up on Me and My glorious Love, ye will have more than enough, and this love will pour out on everyone ye meet!

"As ye spend time with Me, ye will go forth from your chamber with My Love shining on your face! And those that see you will know that it is not of you, but it is of Me. For this does not come from your own might or your own power or your own habits or your own knowing how to love. As ye retire into your chamber and spend time with Me, I will teach you to love.

"This will be the great blessing unto you that I have promised. This will be the hundredfold. Do ye think ye can have a hundred wives or a hundred husbands, ye who have forsaken these? But, yea, I will give you much more than what ye have forsaken. More than the children ye have forsaken, more than the many loves that ye have forsaken.

"As ye have come to Me and forsaken all these earthly ties, I will reward you with Heavenly Love, so that ye will remember the sorrow no more that ye once felt in leaving the loved ones that ye had. Ye will be filled to overflowing with My Love. And in this do My promises fit together. For as ye keep one part, I will fulfill the other part. As ye draw nigh to Me, I will draw nigh to you, and I will fill you to overflowing!"

(New Day of Love!, A [#3011])

(Prophecy)Where is your heart? ...that is the question you have to ask yourself. If your heart isn't in the right place, then you will fall flat very quickly. You will run out of steam and drift into this place of weariness and distraction of the mind. If your service is based on the wrong thing then you'll find yourself growing tired and eventually you won't want to continue.

Where is your heart?

Is it on Me? Then there is nothing that can stop you; there is nothing that can pull you away, but if you are just trying pushing along in the flesh trying to appear willing or trying to appear to righteous or whatever, then you are in for a mighty fall. This is why you feel so weary. You feel so tired of everything because your heart is growing away from the real cause. I don't care about how hard you work...I am after you. I want your desperate love... and if I am not getting that from you, I'll make sure you stumble and fall and show you how ugly yourself really is, then you'll get clear picture of who you are meant to be serving. (End of prophecy)

Just be like the tap. Just open the tap and My Love will pour through. Ye do not need to work at it. It is not an effort of the flesh. It is not a result of your own strength or your own goodness. But as ye look to Me, and as ye look to My Love and as ye look to My Word, ye become that channel of My Love.

"For behold, I seek for channels, and in channels do I delight, those that are empty in themselves and seek only to be filled with Me and to let My Love flow through them upon others. Therefore remove the obstructions in the channels, that My Love may pour through easily and freely, that it be not hindered, that it be not stopped up. But even this I am able to perform. I am able to remove the obstructions, if ye will look to Me. For I will perfect that which concerns Me, and I will accomplish My will in your lives. As each of you look to Me, ye become that creation of God.

"Behold, ye already are My creations of God. Ye are My jewels, My precious stones, each one a different color! Each one shines in a different way, in a slightly different light, a slightly different shade, a slightly different reflection, but it is all the same light. I just want to polish you a little more so you will shine even brighter and you will be an even greater reflection of My light--to shine in the darkness, to shine on one another, to inspire, encourage, to lift up the feeble knees, to lift up those that are cast down

(New Day of Love!, A [#3011])

Sonora- oh yes, exposure stings. When you see yourself and you realize: "Oh my goodness! Those are my real intentions, my real ideas and reasons." It's painful for you to see all you are is self-righteous, but you are making progress, as you fall flat once again --EXPOSED, guilty and condemned as a works-trip addicted individual.

All your struggling is vain if not for love, if you are just trying to prove something eventually that strength is going to fail and the truth of your selfishness will be seen. Like this past road trip, so many things went wrong because you were doing what you've always done, and that's depend on your strength to plow through. It's nothing new for you to rely on your feelings, but don't worry, we can see we are getting through this time. One more stone thrown at your picture perfect stain glass window --smash, another hole in the image that only exists in your mind anyway.

Then what's the point of doing good things and forcing myself to be righteous?

The problem is not your good things, but your heart. It's your heart that needs cleaning and why we have to allow you to make a mess of things.

It's all about bringing you closer to us and farther away from yourself and your own self, because without this breaking you can't use the keys properly. You can't wield them correctly and their power will lessen if not used with broken and humble and needy hands (End of prophecy)

LUK.17:9 "Does he thank that servant because he did the things that were commanded him? I think not.

LUK.17:10 "So likewise you, when you have done all those things which you are commanded, say, 'We are unprofitable servants. We have done what was our duty to do.'"

Think of everything you want out of life that has to do with other people. Even a smile is a need. You look at someone, tell them "good morning," and you want a smile from them, because it makes you feel good to know that you've made them feel good and made them smile. Think of everything that makes your life better, and then do those things for others.

When you measure your output of love and take more thought for how much you're giving, you'll be amazed at the conviction it puts on your heart to give more often. Stop right now and think about the last time you gave "over and above" love, something that wasn't expected of you, but that you did anyway. What about before the last time? How long was it in between? How often do you think is enough? A loving act a day? A week? Only you can judge. You can't put a quota on love, but you certainly can tell when you've been a conduit of My love to others, or when your channel has been a little dry, with not much love coming through. (Art Of War, The - Part 6 [#3590])

I know this is far above your natural ability. It's out of your reach to find such love on your own. If you try to do this in your own strength, the arm of the flesh, you'll be disappointed, frustrated, and tire of such labor. But if you call out to Me, simply asking Me for the love you need, and are then willing to put that love into action by faith, I will give you My love in such tremendous volume and power that you will know you have witnessed a miracle!

It takes desperate prayer, a believing spirit, and a willing mind and heart. Then follow this with many small steps of unselfish love, and you will become a new creature. You will think of others, have more concern, and feel for others' needs more readily. You'll be willing to give up your own plans and ideas to care for the weak.

Love is action, love is doing, love is outgoing concern. But all of this must come from My hand if it is to last. I have such love for you! I'm waiting with a flood of love to pour out upon the children of David, if you will but ask, seek Me with desperate hearts, believe that this is possible, and then be willing to be made willing, available, sensitive lovers of others.

I am the God of miracles, and I will give you this miracle of love. I want to give you this new anointing of love, which is synonymous with My power, My face, My person. I am Love, and you can have more of Me than you've ever had before. Ask and you will receive!

Learning to be more sensitive to others, more aware of what's going on around you, and what the others around you are thinking or feeling or needing is a part of maturity. It's growing up and putting others' needs before your own. It's realizing that very often you are the one I am calling to help meet the needs of those around you--but you can't do that unless you learn to recognize those needs.

(Art Of War, The - Part 6 [#3590])

WATCH THE DIAMONDS OF DUST! They don't try to sparkle and shine. They just let the light shine through them! They don't try to work to shine or move. They're not trying to get anywhere; they're not in a hurry! They just float so quietly on God's air--and only get stirred up when He blows up a storm. But even then, they settle back into their place when it's over!

STOP--LOOK--LISTEN--And become a Diamond of Dust!

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in Heaven!"

(Prophecy) Dry your tears on My shoulder and allow Me to just use you, the marred vessel. This is My way of keeping you low and humble. It can't matter if you feel you aren't good enough, and that you won't ever be good enough for people, I need to use you anyway. I have to use whatever you have. I need whatever you are and I want you. It doesn't matter if think she or he is better than you, give Me you, whatever that is. If you hear testimonies from others and sigh and say I can't do that, I can't talk like that. I don't have that and I am just not as good as all that." If you feel people don't really talk to you and always want someone else, if you've been hurt and if you feel aren't good enough and all that...I say what does it matter?? Are you going to give up because maybe you don't have as much as someone else? Are you going sit down and cry and say it's not fair or are you going to say, "Whatever I have; whatever I am, whatever I've got, You can have it and I'll give You what little I have, even I don't think it's enough". I made you the way you are. And I've allowed things to play out this way to keep you humble and broken. It's not true that you aren't good enough; I simply have to break you in this way, so the circumstances have played out this way. You aren't bad, ugly and only fit to be abandoned after a time...that might have happened to you, but that doesn't mean it's true or that you have to walk around feeling you aren't good enough. Don't build your case, just trust Me. Give Me whatever you are and give into My hands whatever happens or whatever people do. I love what you are, that's why I created you. So let Me use you, let Me have you and even though you feel it's not much...I want it. Burn out serving Me and others, forgetting your own feelings. Just give and pour and you'll forget whatever is wrong with you or whatever people think. Give Me your fearful heart. Give Me your little hand and let Me have you. Let Me love you and accept the love. It's just pride--wanting to be good enough and wanting to have what others have. Glorify Me with your little candle and stop thinking about others and comparing for that smothers your light. Burn out for Me and think about Me. Call on the keys of loving service and do whatever you do for love and because you love Me, not because you are trying to prove your worth. You're beautiful to Me and I will use you in however I want. Yield and remember always that you are no one. You are just a tool and if you get unyielded I have to find another tool. I really want to use you, but if you don't let Me what can I do? Let the pain wash your heart and sweet, let it crush the image of goodness and pride and just be Mine and that's all. I love you. (End of prophecy)

(Prayer/Prophecy) Jesus I want Your heart. I want Your mind and I want Your Spirit. I am thirsty and starving for You. Break the image of me and the fake pretence of having everything together. Break down the fake front and the part of me that wants so desperately to be strong enough. Jesus I need You so much. I don't really have anything , I am just a bit useless, despite all my efforts to be useful...I am useless if I am not doing Your will. I am vain if I am not filled with Your love. I am a nothing until You call me by Your name and make me Your bride. I am such a proud carnal creature until You pour Your Spirit into me. I am messed up and cracked till You fix me. I am no one till You hang Your Blue Key around me then I become truly invisible then I am just something to point to You. Something to remind everyone that it's all about You. I want to do that forever. I want die doing that and I want to live forever doing just that. I just want to serve You in whatever way You want to be served! Even if I feel You can't use someone like me, here take me anyway. I haven't got much, but You can have it. I love You so so much! Fill me with Your love, so I can forget all my damn problems and live to love You and do Your will. I worship You for You are so glorious! Oh Jesus, You are breath-taking and I want You so so much. I delight in You more than life itself. (End)

When you have yielded your life to God on His altar of sacrifice & asked Him to take it, He will--& He will try to use it for His glory as much as you will let Him.

You must let Me keep you fresh and flexible in spirit by yielding to Me and doing things My way, and not having any preconceived ideas of your own about the way things should be. Fight to be humble, to be little in your own eyes, and continue to give Me the credit and glory for everything.

(You can make it)

(Jesus speaking :) Beloved, faith will be tested in the fires. Yes, you must walk through fires to see how you will react. It must not be made all that easy, or it would not be a test.

Tests of faith and tests of love gain the greatest scoring points for they try you to the limit. You are going through these trials of faith—to see if you will hold to My Word and not discard it for something false that seems easier to hold and shinier to have but isn't real. And tests of love—to see if you will love though it costs you all you ever thought you held. Will you give up your self-ambitions or esteem in the eyes of others, because you believe love is the greatest element ever given to mankind?

Who do I want you to be?

What sort of vessel of love are you to be on earth? Are you living it, no matter who or what tries to stop it?

Give my love, though it costs you everything. I did, and so must you.

And what is love? Giving. Pure and simply put, to love is to give. Are you giving? Are you giving in ways that cost you a heap more than you thought it would? Then that is true love. If something is only making you feel good without any cost whatsoever, there is a chance that pride and rebellion to the true ways of love are mingled in.

So be not surprised or disheartened by the cost that sometimes comes along with it. This is the sign that true love is being exchanged. (End)

(Spirit Helper) There are a lot of things that can show you what your motivation is. If you really are here to love Jesus and serve Him and others, then you will be willing to be shown how you can do better. When someone points a finger at you or your work and shows that there are mistakes or you are falling short, then you will be thankful. Maybe it will be a bit hard to take because you still have some pride. But deep down and in your mind you will be grateful, not just on the surface, but when you remember that correction or that suggestion it won't come with a bitter taste. It will be with a "Lord help me to do better" because you actually want to love Him more and serve Him with more of your heart and body and time. When someone shows you how to do it better or some way in which you are missing the mark, you will be glad because now that they have shown you, you can do better and be more of a blessing to all of those around you. That is one way to check your heart and motivation. Also take a look at 1 Corinthians 13. There it tells all the fruits of love. ..Love suffereth long ...and is still kind. Love envieth not, that means it doesn't compare your lot or talents with someone else. If you are really doing it "for love" then you don't care about what talents you have or don't have or what others are doing. You know that Jesus made you what you are and whatever few talents you have you will give them all to Him with your whole heart. "Love vaunteth not itself" It doesn't need to push itself forward, and "it's not puffed up" ...That is pretty clear. And on it goes... but here is a good one... "Is not easily provoked", oops! There is one test that you often fail. "Beareth all things... endureth all things. Can you trust your sweet Jesus even when it seems that your prayers aren't answered? That's what enduring is. Can you keep "believing all things" even if you don't understand? Can you trust when the way that He is doing things seems very contrary to the way He seemed to say that He would do them? Can your love be a kind of love that doesn't fail even when "prophecies fail"? Will you "embrace the hard side of Jesus?" This is actually one of the reasons for tests and trials. They help you see where your motivation has been a bit off, maybe there was some pride and you were coasting along on doing your work for Him as some sort of good works offering ...so you could feel good about yourself and show others how "good" you are ...But trials and breakings have a way of shaking you down. They blow away the sand that you were standing on and if you really still want it, they can help you to plant your feet down on the solid rock. This is when everything else gets stripped away and you find that Jesus is enough. (End of prophecy)

ML#2700:6 I think that's one reason why you have so many battles, you're always trying to earn the Lord's love (or even others) but you know you can't because you know how dirty & icky you are. So you feel condemned & are always thinking, "How can I bridge that gap?" So you're constantly trying to do good things for the Lord or be good enough for the Lord. But He just wants to take you the way you are. I get the feeling sometimes that you try to be good enough for Him or earn His love or try to be a martyr to prove how much you love Him or something, & then you suffer condemnation because you know your works are inadequate & you feel so far away from Him. You're going by your feelings instead of by faith.

ML#2700:17 He just wants you to believe that He loves you, & He wants you to read His Word & believe it & receive it & yield to what He wants you to do. It's so simple, but I'm sure you can make it pretty complicated if you try to figure it all out. But that's really all you have to do; just read & accept & believe & obey & yield & claim His Word for you, & apply it to yourself.

ML#2700:23 You really need to try to stop thinking so negatively about yourself. You may have a lot of problems, but I have complete faith that you're going to get the victory over all of them, even if it's going to be a tough fight. I know you're not a quitter, so you just have to make up your mind that you're going to fight & just keep doing it!

(Battles & Victories [#001])

(Prayer) Thank You for never leaving me. Thank You for holding onto me and for loving me all this time. Thank You for seeing my dubious heart and for not hating me. Thank You for somehow loving me through everything. Break me, Jesus. I'm like a lost sheep. I'm rebellious and so spiritually lazy and I need You so so much. I'm just a hopeless case. You know me so well Jesus and yet You still persist in Your love...thank You. Do what You have to do to make me love You more than anything. You see my true colors and You know it all; I don't hold any false front with You. It seems like with everyone else, I hold up this fake front of goodness or whatever and that's what they see, but You see the darkness within and yet You embrace me; You love me and Jesus that's just what I need. I need to know that You love me with all my crappy heart and mind problems. I'm afraid of others seeing my heart as it is...but I know that You see me as I am and God I am so grateful for every drop of Your perfect love. I want to hold You and never let You go. It feels so good to just be me right here in Your arms, knowing that You don't require that I be strong or good enough. I just don't have the strength right now anyway. I want You to make me a new creature because Jesus I am a fake. I try so hard, but without the love... it's more like force and Jesus I'm not happy because I am not serving for the right reasons. I'm very selfish actually Jesus, so I need You to draw me out. Grind me down and show me to myself so I can see all my good works are nothing. Shine Your light on my dark little world and expose me and help me to face my fears and just accept that I don't have to be anyone...that I can disappear for You and into You. Rid me of the fear of being nothing and no one... that's why I have to work hard Jesus, because I'm not willing to be no one and I want to have something to prove that I at least have some worth. But You stand there, so beautiful, and see past all the layers and see my weak heart and somehow You see that there's a love burning for You within me-A love that is craving You. My strength or desire to win can't see me through this battle, only that desperate love, that although at times buried with the cares of life, still burns hot for You. I love You... and I need You to draw out that love and burn all else. So all that remains is love for You and a desire to please You because of love not because I am so damn self-righteous. (End)

Let My Spirit flow in you, and pray for My true humility--which means obeying My checks even when it hurts your pride to do so. My love, My truth, and yielding to My whispers will set you free! (Stay Humble! [#3235])

Honestly I am scared of disappearing...scared of being just nothing

Not my will, but Thine be done!

He wants your heart; He wants your love and He wants to, above all, live in you. He wants someone He can pour through without restraint. He wants lovers who are willing to go any distance, forsake everything just to have His heart. He wants someone to grab hold of the Keys of the Kingdom and wield this power of His nature. He's filled with beauty and power and He desperately wants to give this to someone. He needs someone who is willing to be His, and like Him, be willing to live to show His nature to the Universe. Like Jesus was willing to come to earth and live among us to show us the Father, so does He desire you to do the same. To live and lay down whatever it is you are to indeed show the whole universe His glory through your yielded vessel. This is the greatest satisfaction.

(Me :) Jesus, you're asking me to disappear into You. That's a hard thing for a human to do. I don't think I could do it. To me the thought sounds like what is supposed to be done, what would be best, and my heart wants to do it for You, but at the same time I don't... There's something in me that's afraid, unwilling, and even rebellious to this. It's the me, the part of me that is going to die. I see my fate ahead and I want to turn and run. I know one thing, I am human... In other words, I will run. I'm just not strong enough... I'm sorry, but that's just what I've learned, I'm too weak to be what you want me to be. I'm ashamed to say it, but I might have to be like a prisoner awaiting execution. I see my fate, I see the noose, I want to run, but I am bound with fetters to thy will, I can not run, I am Yours... So bind my heart to Thee that I may die, and be made new...

(Jesus:) Not My will, but thine be done were the words I prayed on the day of My death. So even I, the Son of God, had My own will. I too was bound and dragged away to be killed. I know your frame, that you're weak, that you're but clay and mud, but I also know that you're more than just a shell of mortal clay. You're a weak earthen vessel ,yes, but with your clay walls have I placed a portion of My own spirit, a door to the realm of God. I have placed within you who say yes to Me, a seed of desire, a cord that shall never be broken. I have bound your heart with a cord, and though your flesh is weak, your spirit is willing. I have allowed your weaknesses, that I might be strong in you. For though I bind you with fetters and you are well-nigh forced to die, yet were you bound of your own free will, for you asked Me to bind you that you may die. For in your heart are we drawn closer together day by day, though the flesh buck and kick. We're two magnets separated for, but a time, yet we're inseparably drawn together. Yes, this death is not your will, but I will help your unbelief because of your desire. You're Mine and I am forever yours. (James)
